

Psychological Safety in the Workplace

Better decisions. Better Behaviours. Stronger Culture.

Why does it matter?

Psychological safety isn't a buzzword; it's a leadership signal.

It shapes what gets said, what stays silent, and ultimately what drives performance, risk and culture.

What will you learn?

- What psychological safety actually means at work
- Why it impacts performance, productivity & outcomes
- How to spot when it's missing (even when things look fine)
- Daily behaviours that build or erode trust
- Common mistakes leaders make (and how to avoid them)
- One simple action you can take immediately

Who should engage with this program?

Leaders responsible for people, performance and culture.

Psychological Safety in the Workplace

Better decisions. Better Behaviours. Stronger Culture.

Delivery Options:

Melbourne (Face-to-Face)

15 July 12:00–2:00pm

Barrington Centre: Level 17/200 Queen Street, Melbourne

Live Online (2 x 1-hour sessions)

2 July | 1:00pm

9 July | 1:00pm

Investment

- Single Participant: $150 AUD (plus GST)/registration
- Business Booking: Registration of 5 participants or more $110 AUD (plus GST)/registration
- Early Bird by 30 June: $120 AUD (plus GST) /participant

The Outcome

Practical insight you can apply immediately – to strengthen teams, reduce psychological injury risk, and prevent cultural drift.

Participants will receive a 'Guide Pack' as part of registering for this event.

www.barringtoncentre.com